One of the Largest Liners.

The Ivernia is one of the largest of the vessels that sail from Boston. Besides her 75 passengers she carries an unusually large freight cargo. The passengers are divided: Twenty-five first class, 300 second class and 400 third class. She was built at Newcastle in 1900. She is 5,000 tons net register, 582 feet long, 13 feet beam and 37.5 feet deep.

Daunt's Rock, on which the Ivernia runs, is a pinnacle, with ten feet of water over part of it, about four and a quarter miles from Boston's Point, the Irish mainland. Vessels bound from the seaward take special precautions to avoid the rock.

Some of Those Aboard.

BOSTON, Mass., May 24.—Of the forty-five saloon passengers aboard the Ivernia when she sailed from Boston at 11:45 o'clock on the forenoon of May 16 nearly all were Bostonians. Among the first class passengers from this city were Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Carpenter, Arthur L. Evans, George H. Hatheway, Mrs. Hatheway, Daniel E. Holland, Mrs. Daniel Holland, Mrs. Ellen Holland, Rev. Cornelius Holland, Lewis R. Jackson, Mrs. Jackson, Andrew J. Legg, Mrs. Legg, S. C. Murfit, H. L. Norton, Rev. Austin O'Toole, Mrs. E. D. P. Parry, Miss Parry, E. H. Parsons, Miss Ruth B. Packard, O. N. Purdy, William D. Rundlett, Claude M. Smith, Mrs. Smith, Miss Bertha F. Shields, Mrs. John E. Toulmin and two children and Mrs. Ladore M. Warren.

In the steerage there were six aliens who had been refused admittance to the country as undesirable. The Ivernia carried one of the largest cargoes shipped from here in a transatlantic liner this season, having more than 8,000 tons dead weight under her hatches.

IN AUTO ACCIDENT, HE SAID: WRECKED CAR IS NEARBY.

Victim Became Unconscious When Found and What Happened Is Not Known.

The police found James Farmer, a bricklayer of No. 42 West Forty-sixth street, on a Central Park bench near McDow's pass early this morning with a deep gash in his head. He was able to say only that he had been in an automobile accident when he became unconscious. He was taken for an automobile accident discovered a runaway automobile smashed on a heap of dirt in one of the lawns near One Hundred and Second street, a little east of the West Drive. The front wheels of the car and the hood were broken.

The car was numbered 6311, the official reports showing such car is owned by the Buick Motor Car Company. From the appearance of the drive where the automobile was wrecked it looked as if the man at the wheel had tried to turn into the West Drive, that the car had skidded and that it had shot up on the lawn and tumbled over a heap of dirt and half caposed.

It was said at the Buick office that the car was the property of T. C. Worden of No. 70 West End avenue. It had been left there to be repaired and was given last evening, they said, to an employee, John Finch, to be taken to Mr. Worden's home. Finch had not reported for work this morning. It was said, and his whereabouts is unknown to the office people.

WOMEN ARE EASY MARKS.

Judge Says So In Sentencing a Bigamist.

Women are easy marks, according to Judge Mulqueen, who had John Davoren before him today for sentence on conviction for bigamy. John married his first wife up the State and then came to New York and picked out a new one.

He got not less than a year and three months and not more than two years and three months at Sing Sing, and the judicial comment.

"Women are easy, aren't they, Davoren? They appear to be willing to marry any man who comes along. Whether they know anything about him or not."

"Guess you're right, Judge," commented the prisoner.

HENRY J. DUVEEN ESCAPES PRISON; IS FINED $15,000

Judge Martin Refuses to Impose Heavier Penalty on Rich Art Importer.

DODGED TARIFF TAX.

Case of the Younger Brother Again Delayed for Twenty-four Hours.

Henry J. Duveen, the senior member of the firm of Duveen Brothers, Fifth avenue art importers, has escaped with a fine of $15,000 for his share in the long continued series of frauds by which he and his partners swindled the Government out of customs duties running up into the millions. Judge Martin of Vermont, sitting in the United States District Court, today fined him $15,000. The fine was paid.

For the second time the case of Benjamin J. Duveen, the younger of the four brothers implicated in the conspiracy, was continued for another twenty-four-hour period to give his attorney, John B. Stanchfield, time to decide whether he will renew the plea of guilty or let his client stand trial upon one of the numerous charges yet standing against him.

Wise Demands Sentence.

When the men were arraigned today Mr. Stanchfield paved the way for the next scene in the story of the big smuggling plot by withdrawing the technical plea of not guilty and interposing a plea of guilty on behalf of Henry J. Duveen. Mr. Wise moved sentence.

Judge Martin began by criticizing the laxness of customs officials which had permitted frauds of such magnitude to continue unchecked for a period of years. He said the evidence before him was convincing that some government employees had been false to their trust and to their oath.

"These brothers saw the opportunity to cheat the Government," he said, "and it was only human nature for them to take advantage of it. Had there been no inefficiency or actual connivance on the part of persons in authority the temptation to which they succumbed could not have been thrown in their way."

"Moreover, this defendant is past the prime of life and in feeble health. The shame of his arrest and exposure and the strain of prosecution have, I am informed, affected his nervous system seriously. He is beyond question deeply involved in this series of swindling operations, but humanitarian impulse prompted me in relieving him of the additional stigma of a prison sentence, especially as it might seriously imperil his health. I therefore fine him the heaviest fine possible under the law."

Lawyer Changes Front.

Following this Mr. Stanchfield surprised Mr. Wise by saying that as regards his remaining client, Benjamin J. Duveen, he had decided not to let the plea of guilty which had been charged yesterday and withdrawn temporarily, but to stand fast by the original plea of not guilty. Mr. Wise was quick to counter.

"Very well," said Wise. "If you do that I shall not so before a jury on the indictment now pending against your man—the indictment which charges knowledge of the undervaluing of three vases brought here in October, 1905, five months after he had become an active partner. I will try him upon one of the more serious charges, of which I have proof of scores."

(Special to The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—With the first game of the series to their credit, Manager Bill Dahlen's Trolley Dodgers went against the Pirates again today bent on taking another. Although the weather was bad for baseball and a fall of rain was expected at any moment, the fans nevertheless took a chance.

Manager Dahlen trotted out his Schardt to do the twirling for the Dodgers. Fred Clarke thought that White had enough speed and control to beat Dahlen's crowd. When the tussle began there was close to 3,500 fans present.

The Pirates were quickly disposed of in one, two, three order.

The Dodgers did better in their half of the first, getting one run on a base on balls to Stark, Dahlen's sacrifice, White's infield out and a wild pitch by White, which let Stark score.

The Pirates drew a blank in their second. The Dodgers again got busy in the second and scored three more runs on Carey's miff of Burch's fly, Cuddeback's safe punt and Zimmerman's terrific drive to the fence in deep left for a home run, scoring Burch and Coulson ahead of him.

BROKER WHO WAS CRUSHED IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

CROWD MENACES JUDGE WHO SENT COINERS TO PRISON

Sympathizers of Italians Sentenced for Long Terms Ejected From Federal Building.

There was considerable excitement in the Federal Building this afternoon when a crowd of Italians followed Judge Holt from the court in which he had been sitting to his chambers on the floor below and tried to force their way in after he had sentenced three counterfeiters to long terms in the Federal Prison at Atlanta.

The sympathizers with the sentenced counterfeiters made no attempt to assault the judge, but their attitude was so menacing that Marshal Henkel and a score of his deputies forced them from the building. No arrests were made.

Pietro Lombardo, Salvatore Romano and Pietro Mezzo pleaded guilty to the charge of making spurious dimes and quarters before Judge Holt in the Criminal Branch of the United States Court. They were arrested in a raid made by Secret Service men at No. 20 East One Hundred and Thirtieth street on May 12.

Lombardo was sentenced to eighteen years, Romano to fifteen years and Mezzo, a first offender, to two years in the Atlanta Penitentiary.

5TH AVE. BURGLAR'S IDENTITY PROVED BY FINGER PRINTS

threw me down through the door at the bottom. I was stunned for a few minutes, and when I recovered there were a lot of people in the house, all screaming."

Thrown Through Door.

The distance down the steps, which are steep, is about twelve feet. At the bottom is a glass door which was broken. The man must have hurled Miss Roe with terrible force, and it is hardly probable that she touched the ground, for she struck the door high and crashed through the four panes of glass and the frail woodwork.

The burglar then rushed into the front room, which is Dr. Delavan's study. He opened the big double window, climbed out on a little balcony over a flower box and ran down the front steps.

Miss Roe in Serious Condition Today.

Her temporary arrest was severe and she is being treated by Dr. Delavan, who says the shock to her nervous system was very severe.

Broker Aids Capture.

Harborage of Upton, a broker, who lives at No. 3 East Thirty-third street, came home from a late dinner, and when he looked out of his rear window saw a man running around in his back yard tumbling over a lot of stucco samples of cornices and doorways and ornaments. He called to the man to stop. The man, who was a kept there by Whitney Warren, an architect, whose office is on the first floor, and make the place look something like a dismantled graveyard.

This man, who was Ausubler, was making motions like a squirrel in a cage, and Mr. Upton immediately added materially to the alarm that was being sounded on all sides.

"I've got him," the broker cried to the detectives, whom he met as they arrived in East Thirty-third street, and he showed them through the architect's office into the yard. Ausubler showed no fight. He was in a corner, his clothes torn and his hands and face cut by his encounter with the samples of Mr. Warren's art. He is not long out of Sing Sing, according to Detective Kenny, and has been in Dannemora and Auburn.

It is probable that the same burglars had earlier visited the residence of Ernest Thompson Seton, the naturalist writer and artist, at No. 31 East Thirtieth street. Mrs. Seton reported to the police last night that some one had tried to jimmy the front door of her home, but had been frightened away by her servants. Nothing was missed from any of the houses they visited.
